Then continue uphill along the drainage and return.	B	10	1200	7

San Pedro River History Hike [C/6mi/0'/$10 + $2 donation to "Friends of the San Pedro River"/8am] After spotting a couple cars for later use at the ghost town of Fairbank [about 8 miles east of Sierra Vista], we pick up a docent river guide and head to the trailhead for Presidio Santa Cruz de Terrenate. We hike to the Presidio ruins built by the Spanish in 1776. There you will meet a Presidio Capitan who will tell you about life at the Presidio. We'll wander around the ruins a bit then hike down to the river bed and find the trail to Fairbank. We stop at the ruins for the Grand Central Stamp Mill and take a short side trip to the Fairbank cemetery. At Fairbank several of the buildings have recently been restored. In 1900 there was a famous train robbery attempt by a gang that included Bravo Juan Yaos and Three Finger Jack Dunlap. Wells Fargo guard Jeff Milton put up a great fight and somehow survived. He'll be there to tell you about it. Our lunches will be there in the spotted cars. There are many picnic tables under the mesquites. There is a new visitor center/gift shop with lots of great history books.	C	6	0	21

Peralta Trail [C/5mi/1360'/$14/7am] Park at Peralta trailhead, hike to Fremont Saddle, with a great view of Weaver's Needle. This is a moderately strenuous hike.	C	5	1360	41
Canyon Lake to LaBarge Creek [B/7mi/1700'/$14/7am] Superstition Mountain Hike. Views of the lake and other landmarks are impressive. From a small saddle we look down on La Barge Canyon. It is a steep 3/4-mile of switchbacks to the [dry] creek bed. Return by the same route to trailhead.	B	7	1700	41
Hewitt Canyon and Ridge Bushwhack [B/8mi/1400'/$14/7am] Park along Hewitt Canyon Road [FR172], mostly bushwhack [not steep ] up canyon toward Hewitt Ridge and Byous Butte. We lunch and return by the same route. Should be home by 6pm.	B	8	1400	41
First Water/Black Mesa/Parker Pass Loop [B/9mi/920'/$14/9am] This loop hike is both highly scenic and short enough to appeal to most day-hikers. From the First Water trailhead, we connect to the Second Water trail and continue to Garden Valley. We come to the Black Mesa trail and climb above Garden Valley. Saguaro and Teddy Bear cholla are plentiful here. The trail levels out and Weavers Needle soars in the distance. Here we intersect the Dutchman trail with fine views of bluff-colored Palomino Mountain and follow it over Parker Pass and on to First Water trail for our return.	B	9	920	41
Canyon Lake Trail to Indian Paint Mine [B/9/1640'/$14/8am] This route has magnificent vistas in every direction. We have views of Canyon Lake, the rugged Mazatzal Mountains, Geronimo Head, Battleship Mountain, and Weavers Needle. From the trailhead at Canyon Lake, we follow Boulder Canyon trail climbing above the lake. We climb steadily to the top of a small hill for landmark views. "B" hikers continue on to a series of switch backs down to La Barge Creek. We continue up the creek without paddle to a trail that gently climbs to the Indian Paint Mine. Here is a vertical mineshaft and a few ruins. Apparently nothing of any value was taken from the mine. This was another dead-end endeavor for some diehard prospector looking for the legendary Lost Dutchman Mine. Return using the same route.	B	9	1640	41
Dutchman/Bluff Springs Loop [B/10mi/1600'/$14/8am] This loop route skirts the base of the Superstition Mountains passing a variety of pleasant and, possibly, poppy/lupine-covered vistas across open desert country and then climbs over Miners Summit and drops back into the backcountry. From the Peralta trailhead, we follow the Dutchman trail passing beneath Miners Needle to Miners	B	10	1600	41

Canyon. We meander up a rocky area to Miners Summit where we continue on the Dutchman trail and descend into a tributary of Bluff Spring Canyon. We then cross a wash [most probably dry] and meet the Bluff Spring trail. We follow the Bluff Spring trail past the Terrapin trail for the remainder of the rather steep downhill 2.3 miles back to the trailhead.
